

Entrepreneurship: Assignment Questions: July 2026

WEEK 2 – LECTURES 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10

Entrepreneurial Discovery, and Ideation and Prototyping (Part) Parts 3 and 4

Q1) Which stage comes immediately after Ideation in the broad stages of product development?

- a. Testing
- b. Validation
- c. Prototyping
- d. Commercialisation

Q2) In MBTI personality typology, ENTJ is the:

- a. Rarest personality type that makes for highly effective leaders and CEOs
- b. Most commonly found personality type that makes for submissive officers
- c. Unique descriptor for product designers
- d. Indicator for rule-book bound CFOs and lawyers

Q3) Kerr, S.P., W.R. Kerr & T. Xu in their paper, “Personality Traits of Entrepreneurs: A review of Recent Literature”, HBS Working Paper 18-047, November 2017 held that entrepreneurial characteristics are a part of:

- a. Individual training
- b. National culture
- c. Industrial development
- d. Global economy

Q4) Entrepreneurial large-scale firms may succeed in creating:

- a. Self-delusion
- b. Conglomerates
- c. Excessive competition
- d. None of the above

Q5) Compared with conventional entrepreneurs, start-up founders take additional risks primarily by:

- a. Experimenting with innovation and new business models
- b. Experimenting with employees
- c. Experimenting with public policy
- d. Experimenting with customers

Q6) The success of many start-ups such as RedBus, Swiggy, Airbnb, Uber and make my trip was based on:

- a. Treating demand and supply separately

- b. Focussing only on demand
- c. Focussing only on supply
- d. Aggregating and linking demand and supply digitally

Q7) Paperboat is an Indian startup that succeeded with a thematic grid that combined:

- a. Ethnic Indian beverages with Ethnic Indian packaging
- b. Global beverages with Ethnic Indian packaging
- c. Ethnic Indian beverages with Contemporary modern packaging
- d. Global beverages with Global packaging

Q8) The fundamental and the first step of design thinking is:

- a. Designing a product or service
- b. Empathising with the customer
- c. Prototyping
- d. Developing a market plan

Q9) A true design thinking and ideation exercise involves:

- a. Accepting the status quo
- b. Questioning the basics
- c. Relying on experts
- d. None of the above

Q10) Which of the following is a serious ideation mistake?

- a. Lack of boundary
- b. Lack of predefined purpose
- c. Bias and closed-mindedness
- d. Imaginary constraints